

Stanningley Primary School Grammar and Punctuation
Intent Statement

We recognise at Stanningley the importance of accurate grammar and punctuation when writing. Children will be taught from an early age how to write grammatically correctly and how to punctuate their writing accurately. Adults will always model correct grammar, both through the way they write and speak and modelled pieces of writing will always be punctuated accurately. Children will be taught specific grammar and punctuation skills progressively as they move through school and at their own particular levels; these skills are underpinned by the National Curriculum and assessed using the DFE writing grids.
